Art Start Of The Day

This week the children have been looking at a famous Surrealist painting. At a quick glance, the picture could just be of a view of a city with heavy rain. On closer look the picture shows the rain as men in business suits. This rather odd painting was created by Rene Magritte who was paramount in establishing the rather bizarre but intriguing Surrealist movement. The bowler hat featured in several of his works. We asked the children to discuss what they felt the picture was about and why the artist had repeated the same image of a man or was it?

We asked if they would put the picture up at home? Most children decided that they wouldn't as it wasn't very colourful or exciting!

Take a look as a family- what do you think?

Would you like this painting at home?
